A top-down view of a white bowl filled with Khao Soi soup, featuring a rich orange-red coconut curry broth, topped with a generous pile of thin, yellow fried egg noodles, shredded purple onions, and fresh green herbs. The bowl is centered on a dark, textured surface. Surrounding the bowl are numerous small, round containers, some ceramic and some metal, each holding a different type of spice or ingredient. These include whole cinnamon sticks tied with twine, star anise, cardamom pods, various ground powders in shades of brown and red, and whole seeds or beans. The lighting is warm and focused on the bowl, creating a sense of depth and highlighting the textures of the food and spices.
